THE AINSWORTH FAMILY

Undoubtedly takes its name from the chapelry Ainsworth (i. e. Aynes or Haynes enclosure).commonly called Cockey Moor, which is situated in the Parish of Middleton, Salford Hundred, in the County Palatine of Lancaster, England.

So long ago as 1369, A. D., John Ainsworth was of that ilk and owned lands there, but Baynes Directory for 1825 gave no one of the name as an inhabitant — there were then no Ainsworths in Ainsworth. The place was always a small one, and the census of 1881 states its population as only 1729 and its area as 1309 acres.

Burke's General Armory gives four coats of arms as those of Lancashire Ainsworths, that are probably ancient; two of these differ only as to their tincture (i. e. colors), and the four are represented by the three given in the frontispiece. The descriptions given by Burke in the technical language of heraldry are as follows:

Gules. Three Battle axes Argent.
Crest. Two battle axes in Saltire proper.
Motto. Courage Sans Peur.

2.

Azure. Three Spades Argent, another within a bordure or.
Crest. Two battle axes in Saltire proper.

3.

Azure, on a bend sable three crescents of the first.

4.

Sable, on a bend argent three crescents of the field.

In view of the later American history of the family, these coats of arms are not inappropriate, — the spades, as emblematic of the agricultural occupation of the great majority of the individuals representing the name, and the battle axes as symbolizing their aptness and devotion to the military service. Every war here has seen the Ainsworth name repeated on its muster rolls, and the number who died in the French and Indian war and in the Revolutionary war seems out of proportion to the number who have borne the name. The motto "Fearless Courage" has evidently been sustained by the family in America.

The present work is limited to the genealogy of the Ainsworth family in America.

One Anchor Ainsworth, by his attorney Henry Rashley, sold his house plot in Boston March 30, 1647, to Joseph Phippeni. There is nothing else to show that Anchor himself was ever in New England, and nothing to suggest any connection between him and other Ainsworths, except the fact that about the same time Daniel Ainsworth appears on the records as the owner of lands in Roxbury.

Daniel Ainsworth and his wife Alice were in Roxbury as early as 1647, he then being the owner of a house and home lot of twelve acres besides twenty or more other acres. He died November 13, 1680, leaving no will, and his property was appraised at £198. Alice died January 9, 1684–5, and the estate, real and personal, was again inventoried and valued at £192.04.02. Among the chattels valued each time was a bible which it might be interesting to see.

There is no record of any children born to Daniel and Alice.

February 13, 1684–5, Mr. Gore of Roxbury was appointed Administrator in place of [the name is lost but probably it was Alice] "in behalf of the heir or next of kin," and there is nothing on the probate records to show what became of the property; but there is little doubt that the estate passed by operation of law — not by deed — to the next of kin, or that Edward[1] Ainsworth was this next of kin.

Daniel's homestead when he died consisted of a house and twenty acres adjoining, a part of this land being probably the ten acres of home lot that he bought of John Stow [or Stave] and the same that Daniel mortgaged in 1649 to Philip Eliot: and no doubt the home lot was the same named in Roxbury Book of Possessions before 1654 as owned by Daniel Ainsworth and there described as "bounded northerly by a highway." November 4, 1664, he deeded to Philip Curtis twelve acres of meadow, bounding the same on the west by other land of Daniel Ainsworth.

December 17, 1702, when Edward[1] Ainsworth was about to remove to Connecticut, he sold to Isaac Biscom his estate in Roxbury, including a dwelling house and other buildings, with land estimated at eighteen and one half acres, which land is described as bounded easterly by land of the heirs of Philip Curtis and northerly by the highway from Gambier's End toward Dedham. John Gore was one of the witnesses to the deed. These easterly and northerly bounds tend to identify the land sold by Edward in 1702, with that which belonged to Daniel in 1654 and 1664, and as there is no record of any conveyance to Edward, it is only reasonable to infer that it became his by inheritance as next of kin; and the inference is confirmed by the tradition that Edward was nephew to Daniel. Then, too, Edward's first son was named Joshua for the mother's father: the second he named Edward for himself; but the third son was named Daniel.

There were Ensworths about Hartford and Canterbury,

Conn., at the beginning of the 18th century, and the two names have so often been confused that it is difficult in some cases to distinguish to which family individuals belonged.

About 1725, there was a family of Ainsworths at Hanover, Penn., of which a few details will be given, but concerning whose present representatives practically nothing has been ascertained.

The vast majority of the Ainsworths in America can trace their descent clearly from Edward[1] Ainsworth of England, Roxbury, Mass., and Woodstock, Conn.

EDWARD AINSWORTH,

1652—1741,

AND HIS DESCENDANTS OF THE NAME.

EDWARD AINSWORTH.

Edward[1] Ainsworth, born in England about 1652, first appears on the records in America as married January 11, 1687–8, but tradition says that his uncle Daniel sent to England for him, to make him his heir; that he came, and growing uneasy went to sea; that after some time he was cast away on the coast of Georgia, but made his way back to Roxbury and settled down.* Possibly this shipwreck may account for his absence at the time of the death of his aunt Alice, and for the appoint-

* Two versions of this tradition survive.

A memorandum made by the Rev. Laban Ainsworth, of Jaffrey, N. H. (born 1757), made probably a century ago, says that Edward came to New England by invitation of his uncle Daniel, "grew uneasy and went to sea and sometime after was cast away on ye coast of Georgia. All hands [except Edward] perished, one only escaped to land but died of fatigue in an hour. He [Edward] came to Roxbury," etc. etc.

Mr. Wyman Howe Ainsworth of Vicksburg, Mich. (born 1801) reports the tradition of Edward and a brother sailing from England, apparently intending for New England, and being wrecked before arrival. "The vessel stranded on a sand bar about one mile from shore. All on board were drowned, including one of the Ainsworth brothers. The other swam to shore, crept into a crevice in a rock. The rock is called the Stranger's Rock to this day. He kept the wolves away during the night by striking a flint with his jack-knife, the sparks from the flint frightening the animals. The next morning he swam back to the vessel, built a raft of such [material] as he could find on the ship, and took guns, ammunition, food, etc., and travelling along the coast found a settlement, as he knew there must be one near. He settled near there, and from him sprang my ancestors."

ment of her neighbor Gore as administrator in behalf of the heir or next of kin.

Of thirteen children of Edward[1] and his wife Joanna, eight were born in Roxbury; but in 1702–3 he sold out his possessions there and removed to Woodstock, Conn., where a colony from Roxbury had settled some fourteen years before.

Here for thirty-eight years he lived a husbandman's life, adding to his lands, and endowing his children from time to time, but in 1725, finding himself too infirm to manage his farming interests, he, according to a custom of his time, made over his home farm, with certain reservations, to his oldest son, conditional for the maintenance, etc., of himself and wife for their lives. The deed reciting the agreement is recorded in the Registry of Deeds at Worcester,* Mass., Book A, page 124, but the original paper, yellow and ragged with age, but well and clearly written, and adorned with flourishes in somewhat faded ink, is in the possession of the present writer, and reads, verbatim et literatim, as follows:

To all People unto whome these presents shall or may come Greeting. Know yea that Edward Ainsworth of Woodstock in the County of Suffolk and Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England Husbandman being grown very aged and Infirm and thereby become very uncapable of manageing his Husbandry affairs And being minded To Settle and dispose of his Real Estate in such a way and manner that himself and his dear & Loving wife Johannah might be credibly and decently maintained dureing their naturall Lives; That justice might be done to his children after the decease of himself and wife: That his eldest son viz[t] Edward Ainsworth Jun[r] of Woodstock aforesaid Husbandman might be sutably rewarded for his living with & assisting him and manageing his affairs for per JOHN CHANDLER JR. Regr.

This arrangement, however, seems to have proved unsatisfactory, for July 15, 1737, the son Edward[2] reconveyed the homestead to his father, Edward,[1] for the consideration of £300, and the youngest son, Nathan, undertook the care of the aged parents.

The will of Edward[1] Ainsworth is on file in Worcester Probate Registry. It is dated August 10, 1737, was proved August 18, 1741, and reads as follows:

Will of Edward Ainsworth.

In the name of God, Amen, the tenth Day of August Anno Dom̃. 1737.

Eliphalet Carpenter, Nath[l] Sanger, Tho[s] Chandler apprizers.

It will be observed that both the will and the deed are signed by Edward, and the deed by his wife, with their marks. This is not conclusive of their inability to write, but the fact that Edward's mark to his will is a printed E makes it probable that such was the fact. And yet in the inventory again appears the bible, perhaps the copy which once belonged to the uncle Daniel.

The increase of the estate fourfold in the hands of Edward[1] speaks well for the thrift and husbandry of the ex-sailor, when it is remembered that he had previously made some provision for ten children.

THE FIRST GENERATION IN AMERICA.

FIRST GENERATION.

Edward,[1] born about 1652 in England; married January 11, 1687–8, Joanna Hemmingway (who was born September 21, 1670, daughter of Joshua and Joanna (Evans) Hemenway); she died December 23, 1748. Edward[1] died March 5, 1740–1, aged about 89 years.

CHILDREN:

JOSHUA, b. January 22, 1688–9; lived only three days.

HANNAH,* b. January 21, 1689–90; m. March 2, 1716, John Johnson of Brookfield, Mass.

2. EDWARD,* b. August 18, 1693.

ELIZABETH,* b. November 18, 1695; m. March 16, 1732, John Jennings of Woodstock.

DANIEL, b. October 7, 1697; d. 1708, by rattlesnake bite.

JOANNA, b. December 31, 1699; d. infant.

JOANNA,* b. October 5, 1700; m. 1st, July 1, 1719, Ebenezer Holmes; 2d, July 13, 1724, Maturin Allard—2d wife.

JUDITH,* b. January 25, 1702–3; m. May 2, 1723, James Marcy.

DORCAS,* b. April 14, 1706; m. April 18, 1728, Jacob Child (b. 1703) of Woodstock.

3. THOMAS,* b. April 15, 1708.

MARY,* b. m. April 19, 1731, John Green of Brookfield.

SMITH,* b. March 25, 1712; never married.

4. NATHAN,* b. July 20, 1715.

* Named in deed of maintenance, Dec. 10, 1725; also in the will of Edward, dated Aug. 10, 1737, proved Aug. 18, 1741.

THE SECOND GENERATION.

SECOND GENERATION.

—2—

Edward[2] (Edward[1]) born August 18, 1693, at Roxbury, Mass.; married April 5, 1722, Joanna Davis of Pomfret, Conn. (daughter of Matthew and Margaret (Corbin) Davis), who was born October 22, 1696, and who died April 25, 1753.

Edward[2] died June 16, 1758. He was a prosperous husbandman, and lived and died at Woodstock, Conn.

CHILDREN (all born at Woodstock):

ABIGAIL, b. February 19, 1722–3; m. April 16, 1774, Jesse Carpenter, of Killingly, Conn.

5. DANIEL, b. October 21, 1724.

ALICE, b. May 6, 1727; m. about 1751, David Shumway of Sturbridge, Mass. She d. January 12, 1810. He d. May 10, 1796, aged 91.

6. EDWARD, b. November 21, 1729.

7. WILLIAM, b. July 12, 1733.

All of these were living June 28, 1758, when they agreed that William should administer on their father's estate.

—3—

Thomas[2] (Edward[1]), born April 15, 1708, at Woodstock, Conn.; married 1st, about 1729, Dorothy Kellogg; 2d, Elinor Kellogg, sister to Dorothy; 3d, Ruth Mason, who surviving him administered on his estate.

He died at Brookfield, Mass., before February 4, 1794, and probably within a few weeks of that date. He was a resident of Brookfield as early as February 13, 1735–6.

Whitney, in his History of Worcester County (p. 81) says: "There is now [1793] living in Brookfield a Mr. Thomas Ainsworth, who supposes he is the last surviving soldier who was in the famous Lovewell's fight."

Although this is not impossible, it is probably incorrect, as Thomas Ainsworth was only seventeen years old at the time of Lovewell's last fight, and no person named Ainsworth is mentioned in the list of Lovewell's men. These lists may not be complete, but of those known to have served under Lovewell none were from places far distant from the valleys of the Merrimack or Concord Rivers.

There is a tradition that Thomas at one time lived with the Narraganset Indians, that he was very strong and venturesome, and there are old anecdotes of his cunning and daring in the hunt and in Indian fighting. It is not unlikely that in his feeble old age he got the delusion that he was one of Lovewell's band, or possibly Mr. Whitney's informant may have misunderstood some reference to other fights at which Thomas Ainsworth had been present.

In 1790, Jacob, the son of Thomas, applied to the Court to have him put under guardianship, alleging that by reason of the infirmities of age he had become non compos mentis. The Court called upon the selectmen of Brookfield for their opinion of Thomas's capacity, and they agreed in declaring him non compos, whereupon Jacob was appointed guardian to his father.

Very soon, Thomas, by his next friend, applied to have the guardianship removed; and his application describes Jacob as an undutiful and unthankful child (Jacob was 48 years old then). The Court examined Thomas, and in April, 1791, declared him competent to manage his own affairs, and ended the guardianship.

Thomas died before February, 1794, and his widow Ruth was administratrix; but the property was of small value, and consisted principally of a forty-two acre farm at Brookfield.

CHILDREN (all born at Brookfield, Mass.):

8. THOMAS, b. February 3, 1731.
9. SMITH, b.
10. EPHRAIM, b.
ELIZABETH, b. m. Nathaniel Abbott.
DOLLY, b. m. February 16, 1757 (2d wife), Joseph Wood.
11. JACOB, b. January 21, 1743.
12. DANIEL, b.
13. MARTIN, b.
EDWARD, b. probably he was the soldier of that name in Lieut. Stephen Tucker's company of the 11th Connecticut, 1776; possibly d. in service.
14. JOSEPH, b.
15. MOSES, b.
BEULAH, b. m. Reuben Burt.
HANNAH, b. May 11, 1747; probably d. unm. at B. February 21, 1834.
MARY, b.

The order of the birth of these children cannot be stated, nor is it known which of the wives were their mothers. Dorothy signed a deed in 1736, and it is probable that Thomas[2] was a widower June 5, 1743, when his deed to David Wedge has no wife's signature. Hannah certainly was Elinor's daughter.

—4—

Nathan[2] (Edward[1]), born July 20, 1715, at Woodstock, Conn.; married 1st, April 14, 1736, Huldah (daughter of Joseph and Grace) Peake; she was born November 9, 1718, and died April 3, 1749. Married 2d, October 11, 1750, Abigail (daughter of John and Abigail) Child, of Woodstock; she was born January 1, 1729, and died December 6, 1794.

Nathan[2] died at Woodstock, November 24, 1776; was a tailor, and lame in one arm. Of his four sons, three died in the military service in the war of Independence. Amasa was too young to serve.

CHILDREN by Huldah (all born at Woodstock):

HULDAH, b. September 19, 1736; m. June 12, 1783, James Wheeler, of Scituate, R. I.

16. DARIUS, b. September 18, 1738.

17. NATHAN, b. (probably) 1740.

GRACE, b. June 1, 1743.

ABIGAIL, b. March 6, 1757.

LUTHER, b. August 16, 1760; from two separate sources his death is reported: One stating that he "died in the army Oct. 20, 1780"; and the other that he was "killed by the Indians," no date. Both were correct. Colonel Brown, with a detachment from Berkshire, marching up the Mohawk to relieve the New York frontier, was seduced into an ambush and slain, with forty-five of his men, by a party of Indians and tories, who themselves were afterwards, and on the same day, defeated at Fox's Mills by Gen. Van Rensselaer.—(See Diary of the Revolution.) Luther[3] was one of the killed. He enlisted from Wilbraham.

18. AMASA, b. May 1, 1767.

HANNAH, b. January 30, 1769 [or 1771]; perhaps m. November 17, 1791, Rowland Crocker.

—8—

Thomas[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), born February 3, 1731, at Brookfield, Mass.; married Elizabeth Elizabeth Ainsworth and child Thomas were warned out of Sturbridge, October 12, 1758. Nothing further is known of them.

CHILD:

THOMAS, b. before 1758.

—9—

Smith[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), married June 6, 1757, Widow Mary (Burt) Wedge. He died in the military service—expedition to Canada, September 17, 1758. Was mustered April 14, 1758, in Capt. Daniel Burt's company, Col. William Williams' regiment. The march began in May.

One child:

Deborah, b. February 12, 1758; m. Porter; lived at Warren, Vt.; d. 1856.

—10—

Elder Ephraim[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), born 1737, at Brookfield, Mass.; married about 1757, Eunice Burt, a sister of widow Mary Wedge, who married Ephraim's brother Smith. She was five days younger than her husband, and died five days after he was buried. Both died 1811 at Woodbury, Vt.

A seat in the meeting house at Brimfield, Mass., was assigned to him September 12, 1757, probably upon his marriage. August 4, 1766, he, his wife, their three older children and Hannah Ainsworth, who was, perhaps, his sister, were warned out of Sturbridge by the thrifty officials of that town; but he lived there until 1770 certainly, for in a deed of that date he describes himself as of Sturbridge, yeoman. Later, he removed to Windsor, Vt., where it is said that his sons married, thence perhaps to Royalston; and about the year 1800 the whole family appear to have removed to Woodbury, Vt., and Ephraim, senior, was then an elder of the Free Will Baptist denomination. In 1841 there was a stone chimney and other remains of the log house in which Elder Ephraim died. His grandson, Joseph Ainsworth, who was present, states that just before his death the Elder had his family and friends called in, and preached his own funeral sermon from the text Rev. xiv. 13, and adds, that "as soon as the 'amen' was said he immediately expired."

CHILDREN:

EUNICE, b. December 22, 1758, at Brimfield; m. John Bettis.

33. EPHRAIM, b. March 24, 1761, at Brimfield.

AMY (or Ruamy), b. August 11, 1763, at Brimfield; m. July 14, 1801, John Thomas (the first marriage in Woodbury). She d. about 1856.

34. THOMAS, b. April 16, 1767, at Sturbridge.

35. BENJAMIN, b.

SMITH, b. m. Sally Smith; was chosen selectman of Woodbury 1806. In 1812 he was living in Calais; d. in Pennsylvania, aged about 80.

—11—

Jacob[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), born January 21, 1743, at Brookfield, Mass.; married November 14, 1771, Mercy (daughter of Nathaniel) Abbot, born May 22, 1751, died March 14, 1838. He died February 4, 1828. He was a soldier from Brimfield in Capt. Burt's company, Col. William Williams' regiment of foot, Canada expedition, 1758, and served in 11th Connecticut militia in 1776, as from Woodstock, Conn. He lived also at Brookfield and Sturbridge, Mass., and about 1800 removed to Calais, Vt., where he and his wife died.

CHILDREN:

ASENA, b. at Brimfield, May 11, 1773; m. at Sturbridge, May 26, 1793, Jason Marsh, of Brookfield; d. July 1, 1819, at Calais.

36. JACOB, b. November 10, 1776.

37. PERLEY, b. December 25, 1778.

38. WAREHAM, b. July 27, 1780.

CHLOE, b. March 18, 1782; m. April 17, 1803, Benjamin Bancroft of Petersham, Mass.; she d. August 1, 1854, at Calais.

39. LUTHER, b. February 10, 1784.

40. SABIN, b. June 3, 1786.

MERCY, b. September 26, 1788; m. December 11, 1814, Nathan Chase of Calais; d. November 13, 1836.

41. DANFORTH, b. December 4, 1791.

Jacob's will names all of these except Danforth.

—12—

Daniel[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), born about 1736, probably at Woodstock, Conn.; married Azubah Green, who died at Brookfield, Mass., before July, 1820. He died 1807.

He served under Col. John Murray in 1758, also in the Revolutionary war. First, in Lexington alarm, April, 1775, twenty days in Capt. Marcy's company; Second, May 9, to December 15, 1775, in Capt. Ephraim Manning's company, third (Putnam's) regiment Connecticut militia; Third, August 23 to November 9, 1777, in Col. Latimer's regiment, Saratoga campaign.

CHILDREN:

42. LEMUEL, b.
ANNA, b. m. William Johnson of Brookfield.

—13—

Martin[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), married 1st, Abigail Ross; married 2d, December 13, 1764, Hannah Streeter.

Hannah, wife of Martin Ainsworth from Sturbridge, was warned from Brookfield, May, 1766. This would suggest that she was then a widow. No child mentioned in the warning.

CHILD:

BENONI, b. January 1, 1764?

—14—

Joseph[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), born at Brookfield, Mass.; married January 7, 1761, Rebecca Allard, both then of Woodstock, Conn. He served in the Revolutionary war from July 1 to December 12, 1780, in the 4th Connecticut Regiment. May 23, 1765, he, his wife and their children, Mary and Anna, were warned out of Sturbridge, but there is no other evidence of their residence there.

CHILDREN:

ANNA, b. November 5, 1763, at Woodstock, where she died.
MARY, b. in or before 1765.
ELINOR, b.
URIAH, b. d. at Woodstock 1857. He was a deaf mute, and the last resident in W. of the Ainsworth name.

There is some reason to believe that the grandfather of John Wesley Ainsworth, q. v., may have been this Joseph's son.

—15—

Moses[3] (Thomas,[2] Edward[1]), born at Brookfield, Mass.; married Margaret McKnowland, who died at Calais, Vt., October, 1831, aged 93,=born 1738. Her father was a sailor. Moses died at Calais, 1834, and was buried in the cemetery at the centre of the town; but there is no stone at his grave.

It was probably he who was a soldier from Brookfield, 1762, and again mustered for eight months service May 6, 1775, in Capt. Sylvanus Walker's company, Col. Timothy Danielson's regiment.

He went to Chemung 1788, returned to Brookfield 1789, and went thence to Calais 1794; was of Ludlow, Mass., 1781; soldier from Sturbridge 1779. Suffered heavy losses by the depreciation of Continental money.

Rev. Laban[4] (William,[3] Edward,[2] Edward[1]), born July 19, 1757, at Woodstock, Conn.; married December 4, 1787, Mary Minot (daughter of Jonas and Mary (Hall) Minot), who was born at Concord, Mass., February 1, 1761, and who died February 3, 1845.

Laban died March 16, 1858, aged over 100 years. He graduated at Dartmouth College, 1778; licensed as preacher 1779; chaplain in McKinstry's corps in one campaign. Preached at Spencertown, N. Y.; was settled as the minister of Jaffrey, N. H., December 10, 1782; and his pastorate (over 76 years)—the longest on record—ended only with his death.

In July, 1840, Rev. Laban Ainsworth, then aged 83, and his son William Ainsworth, a graduate of 1811, attended on the commencement exercises at Dartmouth College, when Frederick Smith Ainsworth, the son of William, took his degree. All three generations being graduates of the College.

Oliver[4] (William,[3] Edward,[2] Edward[1]), born March 3, 1773; married October 23, 1794, Hannah Marcy.

Graduated at Harvard College in 1794. "It is said that in College, when everybody wore breeches, he would go to the pump [in the College yard] every morning, summer and winter, without shoes or stockings, and bathe his head and legs in cold water."—[Genealogical Register, 1877, p. 334.]

Settled as farmer at South Brimfield, Mass. About 1797 he suddenly disappeared, and was supposed by his neighbors to have been murdered; but his brother Laban's memorandum, made in 1807, says that Oliver "went to India in 1797. We had doubtful accounts of his going to the head of navigation on Elk River. In 1806 I heard from a transient person of a man of that name and description [slender make, 5¼ feet high, light complexion, freckled, hesitates in speech] engaged in an academy in the vicinity of Elk River."

The last named locality was probably Elkton, Md., and the person referred to may have been one of the Pennsylvania Ainsworths.

Col. Ainsworth received the degree of M.D. from the New York University, in February, 1874. Entered U. S. army, November 10, 1874, as assistant surgeon, with rank of first lieutenant; standing first on the examination list of some fifty applicants. Promoted to rank as captain November 10, 1879, and to be surgeon with the rank of major February 27, 1891. Appointed Colonel and Chief of the Record and Pension office May 27, 1892.

After serving in the field and on remote stations at the West for eleven years, he was ordered to duty in New York city, and in 1886 to Washington, where he is now at the head of the Record and Pension Office of the War Department.

The reforms which Col. Ainsworth has effected in the service and records of his department are but little short of marvellous. For them he has received public commendation in the message of President Harrison, and in the reports of the Secretaries of War, Committees of Congress and the Commissioners of Pensions. The office that he now holds was created for him by special act of Congress, and he was appointed to it by the President, both in recognition of his peculiar and remarkable services.

James[3] (John,[2] Samuel[1]), born 1770; married Lydia Crain. Had six sons: James, John, George Crain, Joseph, Samuel and William.

George[1] Ainsworth, probably a descendant of Samuel[1] of Hanover, Penn., possibly the same as George Crain above named; removed from that state to Ohio; married Anchor Death. He had a son Andrew who lived at Covington, Indiana, and had a family there. Another son was

John Commigers[2] (George[1]), born June 6, 1822, at Springsborough, Ohio; married 1st, ... Kinnevely of Iowa, who died a few months after her marriage; married 2d, in 1851, Nancy Jane White of Oregon City, who was born February 14, 1834, and died December 5, 1859; married 3d, in 1864, Mrs. Fanny Barber, daughter of Brig.-Gen. E. B. Babbitt, U. S. A.

At sixteen years of age Mr. Ainsworth was doing business in his own name at Farmington, Iowa. In 1845 he began boating on the Mississippi, where he commanded a steamer on the line between St. Louis and Galena. In 1850 he went to the Pacific coast, and was soon engaged in the coast service there, acquiring and constantly increasing ownership in the steamers. In 1861 he organized the Oregon Steam Navigation Co., which combined steamboat and portage roads, and of this company he was the president for nineteen years. In this employment Capt. Ainsworth accumulated a princely fortune of untarnished dollars.

As a capitalist he was for some years managing director of the Northern Pacific Railroad for the Pacific coast; one of the two commissioners who settled Tacoma as the terminus of that railway on Puget Sound; builder of the Ainsworth block in Portland, Oregon; founder of the Ainsworth National Bank and of other corporations in the same city; and within the past five years he has been a promoter of the land and railway enterprise by which Redondo Beach in So. California has become important both as a commercial port and a summer and winter resort.

All these except George Jennings were born at Portland, Oregon.

George Jennings[3] (John Commigers,[2] George[1]), born April 13, 1852, at Oregon City; married June 16, 1875, Margaret Sutton of Portland, Oregon.

Following the example of his father Mr. Ainsworth is one of the active stirring men of the Pacific coast. He was graduated at the University of California in 1873, with the degree of Ph.B.; continued his studies for a year in a post-graduate course, and then took the position of freight clerk on a steamer plying on the Columbia and Willamette rivers. From this he rose to be captain of the steamer, assistant superintendent and general superintendent of the Oregon Steam Navigation Co.

He was for a time a regent in the State University, and is now the executive manager of the improvements that are developing the new port at Redondo Beach in Southern California.
